How risky is it?

The value of the fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility".

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

Front Street Capital 2004 has rated the volatility of this fund as low.

This rating is based on how much the fund's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the fund's returns, see the Investment Risk Classification Methodology section of the fund's simplified prospectus.

No guarantees

A word about tax

In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether or not you hold the fund in a registered plan, such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan or a Tax-Free Savings Account.

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered account, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Series F shares of the fund. The fees and expenses – including any commissions – can vary among series of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. On September 9, 2016, the Manager and Aston Hill announced that they have entered into an agreement to combine their respective companies, creating a new, leading independent asset management firm (the "Transaction") which would then become the manager of the Funds. The closing of the Transaction, which is expected to occur by the end of 2016, is subject to a number of conditions precedent including the approval of Aston Hill shareholders and debentureholders, approval of shareholders of the Funds, securities regulatory approval and satisfaction of other customary closing conditions. Special meetings of the shareholders of the Funds are expected to be held in November, 2016 to consider the change of manager. Further details of the Transaction will also be set out in the management information circular to be prepared in connection with the meetings, which will be available under the Funds' profiles at www.sedar.com.
